Ordinary Time Journey

A Reflection on the Ordinary Time season from Fr. Michael Carvill

Dear Parishioners,

We have just begun the journey through Ordinary Time, that liturgical season in the Church's calendar that goes from the end of the Christmas season to the beginning of Advent with an interlude for the Lent and Easter seasons. This 34-week journey should not be considered in any way as "vanilla." The word "ordinary" in the Church's language does not mean—as it often means in common speech—something plain and uninteresting. It rather means something that is ordered. It is a season in which the public ministry of Christ during his three years among us is laid out in an ordered way.

For this reason, as we begin this Ordinary Time journey, I want to point out the great opportunity the season is to contemplate the life of Christ – His teaching, His miracles, His gaze, His method of work. This year, we will be following principally, though not exclusively, the Gospel of Matthew. The Gospel of Matthew stands out in a particular way in its awareness that the Gospel is destined for everyone and not one particular type of people – not only the people of Israel, but, with them and through them, for the whole world. The Gospel of Matthew also has an intense interest in the Eucharist and the corporate reality of the Church.

Let us then take advantage of a new year to watch Christ, to contemplate Him in His teachings and His actions, to be moved, and once again, to be converted to Him. The image of Mary at the feet of Jesus, listening to Him, is a great image of this contemplation. Jesus called this the better part, and it should be a part of the life of every Christian. Perhaps you have a Roman Missal or you can go online to the USCCB website to find the reading for each Sunday and to allow them to become a company to you during the week. Perhaps you can use the method of Lectio Divina to enter into these biblical readings and be fed by the richness of their content. I wish you all a very blessed Ordinary Time and I look forward to our celebrations of the Sunday liturgy in which these readings will be shared with us in the fullness of their context of the Holy Mass.

Blessings,

Fr. Michael

A Letter from the Principal

Dear Nativity Families,

Welcome back for the second semester! The teachers had a beautiful day of retreat and work on Tuesday to recommit ourselves to our work and center ourselves on the mission of Catholic education. We are filled with hope for the continued growth and development of our goals as a school, particularly the strengthening of our community and the development of our Faith & Reason model. There was great energy and enthusiasm with the students coming back on Wednesday morning and even though I saw quite a few tired faces walking in, the school has resumed learning in the classrooms without missing a beat.

In this Christmas season, we are committed to recognizing our need for our Savior. This will be the theme of our formation work over the next weeks. The more students are able to recognize their inherent needs for personal formation, for healing, and for salvation, they will in turn recognize their need for an education. As student's realize their need, the school can more effectively provide the education of the human person that we strive to give.

Please consider further partnering in this work of education by joining us at our annual Gala at the start of February. This night is not only a moment to support the school financially but also a moment for the school community to come together in celebration. Information for tickets and donations can be found below.

Have a wonderful weekend,
Sebastian

SPECIAL COLLECTION

Elderly religious need your help. Like those pictured, nearly 25,000 senior sisters, brothers, and religious order priests have devoted their lives to prayer and ministry—educating the young, tending the sick, aiding the needy, and more. Yet years of serving for little or no pay have left a profound shortage in retirement savings. Your support of the Retirement Fund for Religious helps furnish care, medicine, and other necessities. Please give generously.

ST. VINCENT DE PAUL

JoAnn “Jody” Leleck was a teacher, principal, and administrator in one of the most renowned school systems in Maryland. Jody’s work ethic helped turn around an elementary school which received national attention. Jody loved a challenge. In 1999, she began the job of principal at Broad Acres Elementary School. Broad Acres was one of the worst-performing schools in the county, with a high poverty rate, and many students from different countries with multi-lingual backgrounds.

Working with Superintendent Jerry D. Weast, Mrs. Leleck and her staff implemented a restructuring plan. Some reforms were: asking teachers to make a three-year school commitment, working with the teachers union to increase the number of hours in a work week (with stipends) and additional teacher trainings, summer school, lower class sizes, English language classes for parents, and increasing the instruction time in many subjects. Every few weeks Jody would arrange note cards with the names of students based on their performance so they could receive targeted instruction. For her dedication to her students as well as her work hours, her staff affectionately dubbed her “7-Eleven.” The test scores at Broad Acres began to improve. For example, “the percentage of students passing state reading tests rose from 13 percent in 2000 to 75 percent in 2004.”

Following Leleck’s death fighting cancer, the Board of Education and Broad Acres honored her with a name change. The school she led and inspired is now known as JoAnn Leleck Elementary School at Broad Acres.

What does Jody Leleck’s story have to do with the St. Vincent de Paul (SVDP) Society? Dedication and “out of the box” thinking. Our various chapters across the country are filled with individuals who adapt their talents and services to the needs of the communities they serve. For more information on our Nativity’s SVDP chapter, see our Flocknote service at nool.flocknote.com/svdp for meeting times and updates.

A HOMILY FROM THE POPE

JANUARY 04, 2023

Before beginning this catechesis, I would like us to join with those here beside us who are paying their respects to Benedict XVI, and to turn my thoughts to him, a great master of catechesis. His acute and gentle thought was not self-referential, but ecclesial, because he always wanted to accompany us in the encounter with Jesus. Jesus, Crucified and Risen, the Living One and the Lord, was the destination to which Pope Benedict led us, taking us by the hand. May he help us rediscover in Christ the joy of believing and the hope of living

With today's catechesis, we will conclude the cycle dedicated to the theme of discernment, and we will do so completing the discourse on aids that can and must support it: support the discernment process. One of these is spiritual accompaniment, important first and foremost for self-knowledge, which as we have seen is an indispensable condition for discernment. Looking at oneself in the mirror, alone, does not always help, as one can adjust the image. Instead, looking at oneself in the mirror with the help of another, this helps a great deal because the other tells you the truth – when he or she is truthful – and in this way helps you.

God's grace in us always works on our nature. Thinking of a Gospel parable, we can always compare grace to the good seed and nature to the soil (cf. Mk 4:3-9). First of all, it is important to make ourselves known, without fear of sharing the most fragile aspects, where we find ourselves to be more sensitive, weak, or afraid of being judged. Making oneself known, manifesting oneself to a person who accompanies us on the journey of life. Not who decides for us, no: but who accompanies us. Because fragility is, in reality, our true richness: we are rich in fragility, all of us, the true richness which we must learn to respect and welcome, because when it is offered to God, it makes us capable of tenderness, mercy, and love. Woe to those people who do not feel fragile: they are harsh, dictatorial. Instead, people who humbly recognize their own frailties are more understanding with others. Fragility, I dare say, makes us human. Not by chance, the first of Jesus' three temptations in the desert – the one linked to hunger – tries to rob us of fragility, presenting it as an evil to be rid of, an impediment to being like God. And yet it is our most valuable treasure: indeed God, to make us like him, wished to share our own fragility to the utmost. Look at the crucifix: God who descended into fragility. Look at the Nativity scene, where he arrives in great human fragility. He shared our fragility.

And spiritual accompaniment, if it is docile to the Holy Spirit, helps to unmask misunderstandings, even grave ones, in our consideration of ourselves and our relationship with the Lord. The Gospel presents various examples of clarifying and liberating conversations with Jesus. Think, for example, of those with the Samaritan woman, which we read and read, and there is always this wisdom and tenderness of Jesus; think of the one with Zacchaeus, think of the sinful woman, think of Nicodemus, and the disciples of Emmaus: the Lord's way of approaching. The people who had a true encounter with Jesus were not afraid to open their hearts, to present their own vulnerability, their own inadequacy, their own fragility. In this way, their self-sharing becomes an experience of salvation, of forgiveness freely received.

Recounting what we have lived or are searching for, in front of another person, helps to bring clarity to ourselves, bringing to light the many thoughts that dwell within us, and which often unsettle us with their insistent refrains. How many times, in bleak moments, thoughts like this come to us: "I have done everything wrong, I am worthless, no-one understands me, I will never succeed, I am destined for failure", how many times it comes to us to think these things. False and poisonous thoughts, that the exchange with another helps to unmask, so we can feel we are loved and valued by the Lord for what we are, capable of doing good things for him. We discover with surprise different ways of seeing things, signs of goodness that have always been present in us. It is true, we can share our frailties with the other, with the one who accompanies us in life, in the spiritual life, the teacher of spiritual life, be they a layperson, a priest, and say: "Look what is happening to me: I am a wretch, these things are happening to me". And the one who accompanies answers, "Yes, we all have these things". This helps us to clarify them well, to see where the roots lie and thereby overcome them.

He or she who accompanies does not substitute the Lord, does not do the work in the place of the person accompanied, but walks alongside him or her, encouraging them to interpret what is stirring in their heart, the quintessential place where the Lord speaks.
