“My spiritual testament” Benedict XVI

Dear Parishioners,

I bring to your attention the spiritual testament written by Pope Benedict XVI. It's dated 29 August, 2006. It was released, according to Ratzinger's will, right after his departure. May his paternal words accompany you on this pilgrimage.

God bless you all!

Fr. Emanuele Fadini

My spiritual testament

When, at this late hour of my life, I look back on the decades I have wandered through, I see first of all how much reason I have to give thanks. Above all, I thank God Himself, the giver of all good gifts, who has given me life and guided me through all kinds of confusion; who has always picked me up when I began to slip, who has always given me anew the light of his countenance. In retrospect, I see and understand that even the dark and arduous stretches of this path were for my salvation and that He guided me well in those very stretches.

I thank my parents, who gave me life in difficult times and prepared a wonderful home for me with their love, which shines through all my days as a bright light until today. My father's clear-sighted faith taught us, brothers and sisters, to believe and stood firm as a guide in the midst of all my scientific knowledge; my mother's heartfelt piety and great kindness remain a legacy for which I cannot thank her enough. My sister has served me selflessly and full of kind concern for decades; my brother has always paved the way for me with the clear-sightedness of his judgements, with his powerful determination, and with the cheerfulness of his heart; without this ever-new going ahead and going along, I would not have been able to find the right path.

I thank God from the bottom of my heart for the many friends, men and women, whom He has always placed at my side; for the co-workers at all stages of my path; for the teachers and students He has given me. I gratefully entrust them all to His goodness. And I would like to thank the Lord for my beautiful home in the Bavarian foothills of the Alps, in which I was able to see the splendour of the Creator Himself shining through time and again. I thank the people of my homeland for allowing me to experience the beauty of faith time and again. I pray that our country will remain a country of faith and I ask you, dear compatriots, not to let your faith be distracted. Finally, I thank God for all the beauty I was able to experience during the various stages of my journey, but especially in Rome and in Italy, which has become my second home.

I ask for forgiveness from the bottom of my heart from all those whom I have wronged in some way.

What I said earlier of my compatriots, I now say to all who were entrusted to my service in the Church: Stand firm in the faith! Do not be confused! Often it seems as if science - on the one hand, the natural sciences; on the other, historical research (especially the exegesis of the Holy Scriptures) - has irrefutable insights to offer that are contrary to the Catholic faith. I have witnessed from times long past the changes in natural science and have seen how apparent certainties against the faith vanished, proving themselves not to be science but philosophical interpretations only apparently belonging to science - just as, moreover, it is in dialogue with the natural sciences that faith has learned to understand the limits of the scope of its affirmations and thus its own specificity. For 60 years now, I have accompanied the path of theology, especially biblical studies, and have seen seemingly unshakeable theses collapse with the changing generations, which turned out to be mere hypotheses: the liberal generation (Harnack, Jülicher, etc.), the existentialist generation (Bultmann, etc.), the Marxist generation. I have seen, and see, how, out of the tangle of hypotheses, the reasonableness of faith has emerged and is emerging anew. Jesus Christ is truly the Way, the Truth, and the Life - and the Church, in all her shortcomings, is truly His Body.

Finally, I humbly ask: pray for me, so that the Lord may admit me to the eternal dwellings, despite all my sins and shortcomings. For all those entrusted to me, my heartfelt prayer goes out day after day.

Benedict XVI

A Letter from the Principal

I hope that you had a wonderful snow day on Wednesday and that the kids had a chance to play in the snow. After Monday and Wednesday off, students and teachers have been hard at work in the classroom, with STAR testing, and extracurricular activities. I am impressed by the energy and enthusiasm that I see around the school.

We have over 100 students currently participating in the CSAL basketball tournament over the next few weeks. The Nativity teams are capping off a season that began back in November. Many of the teams are poised to make a strong postseason run at a championship banner. Please come out and support our Knights on the court if you have a chance.

Finally, please look for info about the silent auction for the Gala. Even if you are not able to join in person, the online silent auction is a great way to support us in delivering the Nativity difference. We are looking to raise $200,000 through our gala in order to cover our tuition gap, continue to offer small class sizes, and build a financially healthy Catholic school.

ST. VINCENT DE PAUL

Spirituality, friendship, and service are essential elements of the Society of St. Vincent de Paul (SVDP). Frederic Ozanam, the founder of the SVDP society, very importantly, saw a "mutuality of ministry" in the society's service to the poor. Frederic wrote on October 21, 1848:

Help becomes honorable, because it may become mutual. Because every man who gives a kind word, a good advice, a consolation today, may tomorrow stand himself in need of a kind word, a good advice, or a consolation ...

Bishop Donald J. Hying of Madison, Wisconsin, the National Episcopal SVDP Advisor, was interviewed by Relevant Radio by Morning Air on September 15, 2022 after he had attended the SVDP National Assembly in Baltimore, Maryland. Bishop Hying related the service of the society to the early Christian church in the Acts of the Apostles. These Christians shared their resources and reached out to the widows, orphans, and those around them in need. Hying also noted that people in today's society are longing for a personal connection and relationship. Service often begins by praying for the grace to see Christ in every person. One doesn't have to look far. Start with the people who are around you.

Bishop Hying commented that he enjoys being with the Vincentians and finds them to be "one of the nicest groups of people around." He noted he often feels energized and inspired after attending the society's conventions. Would you like to check out becoming a member of the St. Vincent de Paul Society? We welcome new members. For more information on our Nativity St. Vincent de Paul chapter and our mission to help the poor, see our Flocknote service at nool.flocknote.com/svdp for meeting times and updates.

BECOMING SAINTS TOGETHER

Three days spent together with JP11 Families, in the Rocky Mountains, with the desire to grow in the path to holiness

Our parish in Broomfield is made up of many young families. A couple of years ago, reflecting with our priests, we shared the need to accompany and sustain these families in their vocation to holiness. From these conversations JP11 Families was born: a proposal thought of for them, with a rule of life that can give clear guidelines for walking together, with the help of the priests of the Fraternity of St. Charles Borromeo that are here in mission with us. The rule is made up of moments of prayer and silence, encounters between husband and wife on a specific theme, conversations between the couples in the small groups in which they are divided, so that they become “a real community of friends in Christ” as the rule says. On top of this, there are also outings and a vacation during the summer to spend time together seeking to live the Christian call to holiness.

Last summer, with Marilù and Jennifer, I participated in the three day vacation of one of the groups. The six families that participated rented a house in our beautiful Rocky Mountains, a house big enough to host all the families and sisters, with a large kitchen and a shared dining room. It was the first time that they leapt into the adventure of sharing a few days together, each with their own habits and attitudes, and with a bit of fear of common life. It was the desire to follow the objectivity of the proposal of those days that opened their hearts to that which the Lord had prepared for each one of them, revealing unexpected graces. Each day started with the recitation of a psalm, followed by a song, a reading, and a prayer. It was beautiful to see the children that were there participate. A certain family was responsible for each meal of the day: the couple who prepared breakfast, waking up very early, was gratified and overjoyed by the wonder of the children in front of the pancakes with Nutella, also for the fact that they were “free of charge” as one of the more vivacious kids specified! Cooking together, preparing the table, cleaning, and tidying up are simple gestures in service of beauty and a chance to get to know each other.

During the day, there was time and space for a hike together with one of the other groups of JP11 Families, with Mass at the summit with Fr. Matteo, songs, games and card tournaments, chit-chat between the moms and cigars after dinner for the dads. A beautiful sign of the joy, truth, and goodness of those days for the life of each one of us was the fact that the children, led by the older girls, prepared sketches every day to recount something silly that had happened, making fun of their parents, Fr. Matteo and the sisters.

Who would use three days of their vacation, waking up early to prepare pancakes for people that one hardly knows, if it wasn't for the desire to grow, to accompany, and be accompanied in the path to holiness? Now that the year has begun, participating in one of the groups together with my sisters, it strikes me to see the charity that is lived between the families, the sense of community and affection that grows. It is an experience that is just beginning, and so there is a great deal of enthusiasm. But the seriousness with which these families are trying to follow the proposal emerges, letting themselves be provoked and showing a willingness to change their attitudes to walk following Christ, who makes a claim on every aspect of our lives.
